Terraria adamantite armor vs hallowed

Note: Used only to report spam, advertising, and problematic posts (harassment, fight, or rude). Which one is best for a melee character? Can anyone compare them to me? Thank you. If I'm not wrong, Adamantite gives 25% more melee speed, and Hallowed gives 19% body to body and movement speed. I would say hallowed, extra defense, extra speed of movement, allowing you to be able to easily dodge some of Ocram's attacks (yes, I usually fight Ocram before Plantera). Tbh, the only thing I like about adamantite armor is that it's the melee ensemble appearance. I'm pretty sure they're both the same, but the statistic increases each give it to you. Share share 50 with mask (melee)35 with helmet (range)31 with Headgear (magic)27 with Hood (summon) 12 Mythril Anvil/Orichalcum Anvil Dragon Armor (console)Titan Armor (console)Spectral armor (console) The hallowed armor set is one of the strongest sets of armor in the game in terms of defensive power lower only to shroomite armor, chlorofite armor, turtle armor, beetle armor, solar flare armor and dragon armor. No, no, no, no. Overview It will be necessary to kill one of the hardmode mechanical heads three times to get the 54 Hallowed Bars to craft the whole set. Bonus Set The whole set gives a buff called Santa Protection when hitting an opponent. While Shadow Dodge is active, when it would take damage from an enemy, it would instead become invincible for 2 seconds. However, Shadow Dodge only prevents damage, Debuffs (e.g. Ichor or On Fire!) are still inflicted. It cannot activate within 20 seconds of previous activation. While active, Shadow Dodge will create two mirror images of you on both sides of yourself. Buff can also be discarded manually. Parts of the set A player with armor and wings hallowed General Hallowed Plate Mail 15 defence 7% increased the likelihood of critical attack Hallowed Greaves 11 defence 8% increased speed of movement Hulls Hallowed Headgear 5 defence Increases maximum mana by 100 12% increased damage Magic and the possibility of critical attack Hallowed Helmet 9 defence 15% increased the damage range 8% increased the likelihood of critical attack Hallowed Mask 24 defence 10% increased the damage to body and the likelihood of critical attack 10% increased the speed of melee Notes The helmet hallowed, combined with the Megashark, gives a 62.5% chance of not consuming ammo with each weight. Although in other ensembles the helmet is melee and the mask is varied, this is invested in the Hallowed set. In the console version, there are 3 new armor (for Warriors, for Rangers, and for wizards), each of which is better than its Hallowed counterpart. This set of armor can be used in vanity to obtain the of mythril armor, which can be useful for cave exploration (tested in console version) Trivia The term "Hallowed" is used to describe something blessed by a deity, and as such these elements can be described as having godlike power. This armor combines the visual effects given by the sets of armor used before 1.2 per (Cobalt armor), brightness (Mythril armor), and pulsating aura (Adamantite armor). The helmet reads +10% haste melee. It may be a mistake, but it's hard to tell. Update Information v1.4.0.1 Now has the old titanium armor bonus called shadow dodge. v1.2 v1.1 Community content is available from CC-BY-SA, unless otherwise stated.
